

If you fish, you need to join us, and wear the Three Fishes with pride. The Angling Trust is the single, united body which represents all coarse, game and sea anglers in England.

THE VOICE OF ANGLING

What do we do for match, pleasure and specialist anglers?

- We campaign to protect fish stocks from pollution in lakes, canals and rivers
- Our unique legal arm, Fish Legal, takes legal action to repair and stop damage to fishing owned or leased by our members
- We put pressure on the Environment Agency to tackle organised poaching and fish theft
- We campaign for action to control cormorants
- We fight to keep access open for anglers to fish on lakes, canals and rivers
- Our Building Bridges project explains UK angling laws and customs to anglers from Eastern Europe and ensures legal fishing
- We help young people to learn how to fish responsibly
- We represent anglers' interests to Government, the Environment Agency, British Waterways and everyone else who can affect your fishing
- We organise major national competitions including Fish 'O' Mania and manage Team England Angling in all disciplines
- We promote the benefits of angling to all
- We support the Crimestoppers initiative to fight fish related crime
- We get exclusive deals for our members (see back page)

"If you value your fishing like I do then you need to join the Angling Trust - do it now!"
John Wilson MBE

"There's no excuse, every angler can and should join the Angling Trust so that we as anglers - and I mean all anglers - can have an organisation with real clout to fight on our behalf no matter whether we go after carp, bass, trout or salmon. So come on, JOIN NOW!"
Bob Nudd MBE

"For the sake of the present and future of all types of angling, joining the Angling Trust is essential, in fact, it should be made compulsory!"
Lee Jackson
